Kit Shipping Update

Thanks for your Patience!

The Northwest has had some unusual weather over the last few weeks. Rain, snow and ice have resulted in snarled logistics in getting Kits and packages shipped. If your Kit was scheduled to ship this month, please be patient. It's most likely crated up in our warehouse waiting for the roads to thaw and the ice to clear in our staging area enough to maneuver a fork lift and load trucks.

Weather predictions show the area warming up and we expect to be able to catch up on our shipping back-logs quickly. Again, thanks for your patience!

If you have specific questions regarding your Kit delivery, feel free to send us an email at Kits@Vansaircraft.com
